

Easy Boarder™ software

Storyboarding for the rest of us!™

Need some help with storyboarding? Most of us do. Sure, some people are real storyboard artists, but for most of us, storyboarding is a real sticky point. We have great ideas for video projects, and we know how we want the picture to look on the TV screen. But our lack of artistic ability keeps us from getting our visual ideas down on paper.

So why storyboard at all? Most video producers – from the novice to the Hollywood exec’s – know that storyboarding is an essential part of any successful video shoot. The director, the camera operator, the stage manager, and the actors learn exactly what the finished program is supposed to look like from the storyboard. The storyboard is the road map for the production, and without a good map, the crew quickly gets lost.

Professional productions hire storyboard artists – tremendously talented people who work with the writers and producers to turn their ideas into a storyboard. But most productions – especially student productions – just don’t have that kind of budget or artistic talent. That’s where Easy Boarder software steps in. Storyboarding for the rest of us. If you can insert clip-art into a word processing document or presentation, you can use Easy Boarder. Just insert a background, position your characters, type-in your script, and print. You’re ready to shoot.

With Easy Boarder software, you get a powerful storyboarding layout tool, and dozens of image resources to support your storyboarding creations.
